

Stark County Artists Exhibition Social Story

When I visit the Stark County Artists Exhibition at the Massillon Museum:

I will go to the Museum's front entrance on First Street. Admission is free.

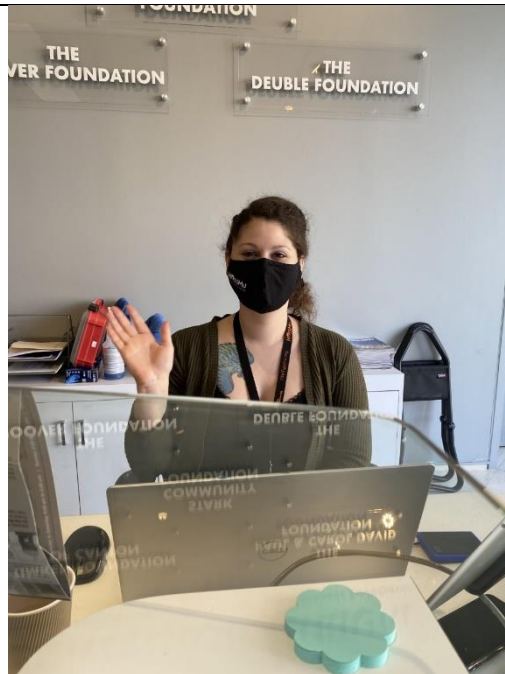

I will enter the Museum through the front doors.

I will go into the lobby.

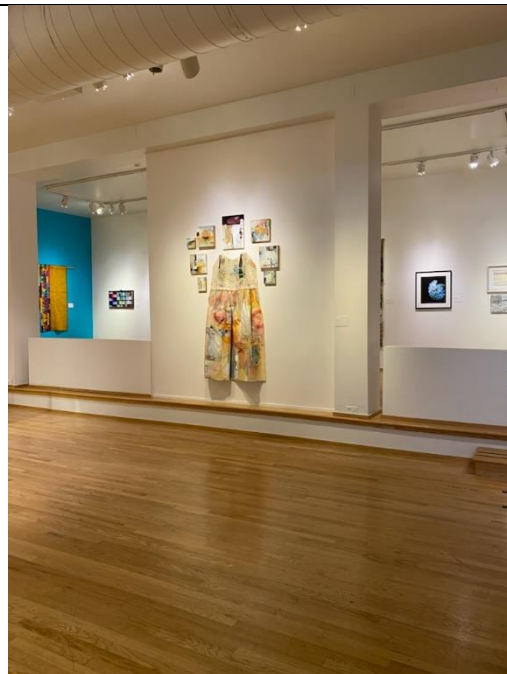

I will be greeted by the front desk attendant who will tell me about the Museum.

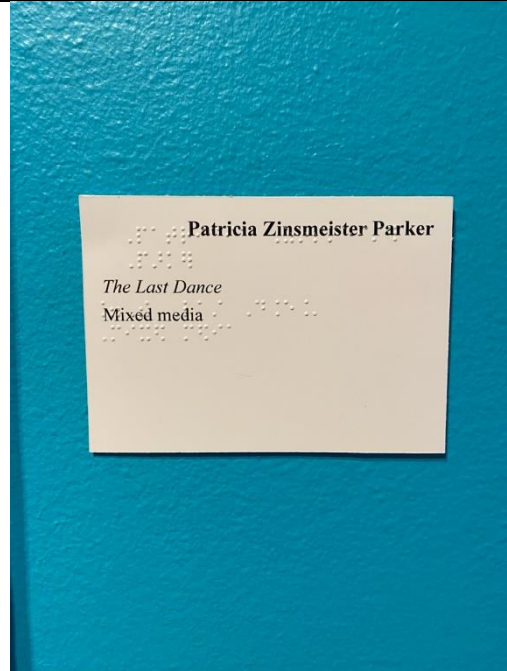

I will go to the Aultman Health Foundation Gallery entrance on the first floor.

I will enter the Aultman Health Foundation Gallery.

I can use the braille labels on the wall throughout the gallery.

I can borrow a gallery stool to use while I am at the Museum.

I will explore the exhibition in the gallery.

One of the works is an installation by Nicole Malcolm. I am invited to explore this space and listen, touch, and make myself at home. I can use the hand sanitizer and wipes on the desk.
